

What we're proposing

The new Museum and Library would have a dedicated entrance off New Road. Internally, both would be linked by a large sliding door.

The library would be divided to create different zones. The ground floor is arranged around a flexible space that can be used for events and activities. The children's library is at the rear of the building, surrounded by natural light.

The first floor would contain a collection of Non-Fiction books, a study area with public computers and a reading lounge.

The two floors would be linked by a new staircase behind the staff desk, as well as a new lift for accessibility.

The old Council main entrance would be the new entrance to the library and museum.
